Death of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith Hodges.

The news of the death of this elegant and accomplished lady will spread general sadness among the older citizens of this community, for it was in this city that she was raised and lived so long as the mistress of the old-fashioned Kentucky home where she and her beloved husband dealt out, with no grudging hand, a generous hospitality.

This sad event took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary T. Page, in Olney, Ills., on Saturday morning last, at 6:25 o'clock, of dropsy of the heart, superinduced by pleurisy.

She was born in Woodford county, Kentucky, the home of her parents, George and Mary Todd (of blessed memory), on the 26th day of May, 1809; was married to Col. Albert G. Hodges, in February, 1826, with whom she lived in most peaceful harmony until his death in March, 1881. In 1827 she united with the Presbyterian Church under the ministry of Rev. Dr. John T. Edgar, and from that day until she quietly fell asleep in the Master's arms, she has been a living exemplar of the beauties that spring up about the pathway of a true, refined and gentle Christian woman.

The mother of a large family of children and the center of a still larger circle of friends, she won all to her by her unvarying kindness and gentle dignity of character. Ever a counselor for peace and love, the white-winged messenger, that she so often invoked for others, was present to comfort and keep her when the storms of sorrow and pain beat heaviest upon her.

In the days of prosperity, she was the same humble Christian that she proved to be in the harder walks of adversity.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Agnes H. McClure and Mrs. Mary J. Lewis, one brother, Mr. John M. Todd, as well as five daughters and two sons (Mrs. Mary T. Page, of Olney, Ills.; Mrs. Annie A. Thomas, of Greenwich, N. J.; Mrs. M. Wattie Crutcher, of Bellepoint; Mrs. Carrie B. Thomas, of Philadelphia, Penn.; and Miss Lizzie B. Hodges, Geo. T. and Jas. A. Hodges, of Louisville, Ky.), besides a very large number of grand-children, nephews, and nieces to mourn their loss of so loved and honored a relative and friend.

Her remains were brought home, on Sunday night last, and she was tearfully laid to rest by the side of the husband of her youth in our beautiful city of the dead, on Monday, the funeral services being held at the First Presbyterian Church, which was filled with mourning friends.

The vital importance to the material interests of our city of the new railroad cannot be over-estimated or too often called to the attention of our people.

We have recently seen and conversed with gentlemen from Scott county, and they all say, without any sort of dissent, that the Kentucky Union and other roads are seeking to dissuade their people from favoring this enterprise.

In so far has the matter gone that some who favored our road at first are becoming lukewarm and indifferent, seeing, as they do, how slow our people have been in arduing to the importance of the matter. They say "well, I am in favor of the Frankfort road, but her own people have had the proposition before them for several years and have done nothing, while these other propositions have become in so far accomplished that parts of their roads are completed and in operation. We cannot afford to wait always on Frankfort."

People of Frankfort—merchants, mechanics, farmers, professional men—we are not alarmists, but these stubborn facts stare us in the face every day, and, like "Banco's ghost," will not down at our bidding.

The danger is imminent and pressing. Let us go to work in earnest, and, with a "long pull, strong pull, and a pull all together," and the work will be done and our prosperity and boom will be doubly assured.

The press of any community are the watchmen on the walls, woe be unto them if, when the enemy draweth nigh, they fail to blow the trumpet of warning.

The Government Building was received from the contractors Monday, and Capt. W. E. Grubbs, the Superintendent, left that afternoon for his home in Danville. The wood work of the interior has been splendidly executed by Mr. Mitchell, of Louisville, under the immediate supervision of his foreman, Mr. Milligan, who so managed affairs that the carpenters and painters finished up their work on the same day. The building is a beautiful structure, an ornament to our city, and a credit to all the contractors. Capt. Grubbs, who came to us as Superintendent about eighteen months ago, against the protest of many of our citizens, has performed his duty well, and although we have thought him a little slow at times, the only regret we have at parting with him is that he does not go to take a more lucrative position.

Mr. J. G. Browne, of Louisville, Ky., agent for Messrs. Borne, Scrymser & Co., manufacturers of oils, was in the city, on Monday, looking after the interests of his house. He is a first-class gentleman and deals in first-class goods. Our citizens who use machine and other oils would do well to interview Mr. Browne before purchasing. His address is No. 218 Second street, Louisville, Ky.

The city obtained judgement in the Circuit Court Monday against the L. & N. Railroad for $1,150 back taxes.

The river was on a "high" the first of the week. The heavy rains of last week caused it to rise rapidly Friday and Saturday, and all day Sunday it looked as if the lower part of the city was to be overflowed, and many families in Craw moved to higher ground. The water got up into several houses on Wilkinson street and crept up into the foot of Mero, but Sunday night it began falling and the danger was averted. Travel on foot was also cut off on Second street, between Conway and Ewing, on the South Side, but no houses were flooded on that side of the river. The water reached a greater height than at any time since the great flood of February, 1883.

The L. & N. Railroad are making special through rates to Florida, these tickets are good every Wednesday in March and hold for thirty days to return on. A goodly number of stop-over privileges are allowed, and a choice of routes. The cost of a ticket from Louisville to Punta Gordo, Florida (the furthest point on the route), is $30.65 for the round trip, intermediate Points at less rate. Now for the land of oranges and flowers.

For further information address W. S. McChesney, jr., Lexington, or C. C. W. Alfriend, corner 4th and Main, Louisville, Ky.

Quarterly meeting will be held at the Methodist Church to-morrow by Rev. Jos. Rand, Presiding Elder. The preparatory services will take place this morning at 11 o'clock.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce JAMES ANDREW SCOTT as a candidate for Representative from Franklin county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

BORN.

In this county, on Saturday, February 26, 1887, to Mr. Charles F. Lang and wife, a daughter.

DIED.

In this city, on Monday night, February 21, 1887, at 12:20 o'clock, Mr. THOMAS HUMPHRIES, of Utica, New York, only son of Mr. Thos. F. Humphries, of this city. The remains were placed in the vault on Thursday, to await the arrival of his heart-broken widow, who, from unavoidable delay, did not reach here until Friday afternoon. The remains were taken from the vault and interred in the cemetery Saturday morning.

Is cured.

FISSURES

Cured without cutting or tearing.

RECTAL ULCER,

The great bane of humanity, is cured if the patient does not call too late. This is the greatest secret enemy of mankind, and a disease of which little or nothing was known before the BRINKERHOFF discoveries. Many patients are troubled with constipation or occasional attack of diarrhoea, lumbic back, headache, dyspepsia, itching increased at night, kidney and bladder trouble, that are not aware it is caused by ulceration in the lower bowel. It is now a well established fact that many diseases of the stomach, liver, kidney, bladder, womb and nervous system are either caused or aggravated by the coexistence of PILES, FISTULA, FISSURE or RECTAL ULCER.
